

Copenhagen, 18. XII. 2001

Dear Jaleh Esfahani:

My wife
and I never got to England
last year, as we had hoped.
Maybe next year we'll make it.

Thank you for your very nice letter. Zari Minooei also writes to me sometimes from Germany. Today I received from her a video recording
from our meeting in Halmö.
I haven't seen it yet. I like her poems which I read in German translation.

The prospects for our world are dark indeed. Human lives seem to have no value, those who wield power only talk of their values and seem to have learnt nothing. Could a turn of events bring them to their senses? Will we be seeing that day - just the faint dawn of it?

With every good wish for your 2022.
